

Docs at War: Your Blood at Work

CNN's Ryan Chilcote spent some time recently with Lt. Col. Dr. David Steinbrunner at the 10th Combat Support Hospital in Baghdad, Iraq. Chilcote is witness to the heroism by both military medical staff and wounded war fighters.

A stirring video, Chilcote's account provides an opportunity to see how your blood is used in theater to save lives.

The ASBP is grateful to its donors who provide the lifesaving blood military medical personnel need as they work to save troops around the world. Ryan Chilcote's moving story illustrates the importance of the gift you give.
